Brand Lagos: Maokus Publishers, 1993. Physical description ix, 209 p.; map; 20 cm Start at call number: The article suggests three main reasons why the definition and development of citizenship education in British schools has proved problematic. First, the guidance from official sources, and in particular the Curriculum Guidance 8 'Education for Citizenship'; secondly, the political and educational significance of the fact that citizenship is a prime example of an essentially contested concept; thirdly, the goal of citizenship education (as distinct, for example, from citizenship education) involves complex educational and practical difficulties that cannot be easily resolved, especially in the current political circumstances in the UK.
